DUDAREV, an individual; GUARANTEE
TRUST LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, an
Illinois Corporation; and JOHN DOES 1-10,

Defendants.

SECOND AMENDED COMPLAINT

COMES NOW, Plaintiff Ruben Escano, undersigned, and for his causes of action against the Defendants states and alleges as follows:

Nature of the Case

1. This civil action is brought forth in accordance with the United States Telephone Consumer Protection Act (“TCPA”), codified as 47 U.S.C. § 227, and the New Mexico Unfair Practices Act (“NMUPA”), codified as N.M. Stat. Ann. § 57-12, to, inter alia, recover statutory damages for automatically-dialed and unsolicited telemarketing calls, and to enjoin such calls.

2. In enacting the TCPA, “Congress reported, ‘many consumers are outraged over the proliferation of intrusive, nuisance telemarketing calls to their homes.’” Mims v. Arrow Fin. Servs., LLC, 565 U.S. 368, 372 (2012) (quoting TCPA, 105 Stat. 2394, note following 47 U.S.C. § 227 (Congressional Findings)).

3. This second amended complaint is filed in accordance with Fed. R. Civ. P. 15(a)(1)(B) or (a)(2).

The Parties

4. Plaintiff RUBEN ESCANO is an individual and citizen of Silver City, New Mexico, with a mailing address of 2311 Ranch Club Road, #2-180, Silver City, New Mexico 88061.

5. Defendant INSURANCE SUPERMARKET, INC. (“ISI”) is a for-profit corporation organized under the laws of the State of Delaware, with a principal address of 1951 Northwest 7th Avenue, Suite 600, Miami, Florida 33136. Its registered agent is Shawn Kehoe at that same address.

6. Defendant ALEXANDR DUDAREV is a natural person with an address at 1751 Northwest 7th Street, Miami, Florida 33125. He is the principal officer of ISI.

7. GUARANTEE TRUST LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY (“GTL”) is a for-profit corporation organized under the laws of the State of Illinois, with a principal address of 1275 Milwaukee Avenue, Glenview, Illinois 60025. Its registered agent is “Chief Financial Officer” at PO Box 6200 (32314-6200), 200 E. Gaines Street, Tallahassee, Florida 32399-0000.

8. Defendant John Does 1–10 are individuals or entities that are also liable for the causes of action alleged herein, but whose identities or liabilities are not yet fully known. Such individuals or entities could be agents or principals of the named Defendants. Plaintiff reserves the right to amend this complaint once information arises to properly implicate these parties.

Jurisdiction

9. Plaintiff is a resident of New Mexico and was in New Mexico at the time the most recent calls described herein were received.

10. The Defendants, or their agents, relied on and availed themselves of the telecommunications infrastructure of New Mexico when transmitting the calls in question.

11. Defendants, or their agents, offer and market their products or services to residents of New Mexico using means which they know could reach residents of New Mexico, and in the manner in which Defendants, or their agents, offered and marketed their products or services to Plaintiff as alleged herein.

12. Jurisdiction is proper because the TCPA is a federal law.

Causes of Action

The Telephone Consumer Protection Act

13. The FCC has long made clear that “the party on whose behalf a solicitation is made bears ultimate responsibility for any violations.” In re Rules and Regulations Implementing the TCPA, 10 FCC Rcd. 12391, 12397, ¶ 13 (1995).

14. The FCC has instructed that defendants may not avoid liability by outsourcing telemarketing:

[A]llowing the seller to avoid potential liability by outsourcing its telemarketing activities to unsupervised third parties would leave consumers in many cases without an effective remedy for telemarketing intrusions. This would particularly be so if the telemarketers were judgment proof, unidentifiable, or located outside the United States, as is often the case. Even where third-party telemarketers are identifiable, solvent, and amenable to judgment limiting liability to the telemarketer that physically places the call would make enforcement in many cases substantially more expensive and less efficient, since consumers (or law enforcement agencies) would be required to sue each marketer separately in order to obtain effective relief. As the FTC noted, because “[s]ellers may have thousands of ‘independent’ marketers, suing one or a few of them is unlikely to make a substantive difference for consumer privacy.”

In re Joint Petition Filed by Dish Network, LLC, 28 FCC Rcd. 6574, 6588, ¶ 37 (2013).

15. The FCC has rejected a narrow view of TCPA liability, including the assertion that liability requires a finding of formal agency and immediate direction and control over the third-party who placed the telemarketing call. Id. at 6587 n.107.

16. The FCC's 2013 declaratory ruling made clear that even when sellers, such as the Defendants, do not initiate calls, they "may be held vicariously liable for certain third-party telemarketing calls . . . under a broad range of agency principles, including not only formal agency, but also principles of apparent authority and ratification." Id. at ¶ 28.

17. "As the FTC has explained in its Compliance Guide, 'taking deliberate steps to ensure one's own ignorance of a seller or telemarketer's Rule violations is an ineffective strategy to avoid liability.'" FTC v. Chapman, 714 F.3d 1211, 1216–1219 (10th Cir. 2013).

18. Called parties may obtain "evidence of these kinds of relationships . . . through discovery, if they are not independently privy to such information." In re DISH Network, 28 FCC Rcd. at 6592–593, ¶ 46. Evidence of circumstances pointing to apparent authority on behalf of the telemarketer "should be sufficient to place upon the seller the burden of demonstrating that a reasonable consumer would not sensibly assume that the telemarketer was acting as the seller's authorized agent." Id. at 6593 ¶ 46.

19. A TCPA defendant can be held liable if it "had knowledge of facts [about a telemarketer] that would have led a reasonable person to investigate further, but the [defendant] ratified without further investigation." See McCurley v. Royal Seas Cruises, Inc., No. 21-55099 (9th Cir. Apr. 5, 2022) (quoting Restatement (Third) of Agency § 2.03).

20. "Calls placed by an agent of the telemarketer are treated as if the telemarketer itself placed the call." Newell v. Strategic Admin. Grp., Inc., No. 2:20-CV-00967-JDW, 2020 WL 12770854, at *1 (E.D. Pa. May 6, 2020) (quoting In re Rules and Regulations Implementing the TCPA, 10 FCC Rcd. 12391, 12397, ¶ 13 (1995)).

Introduction: The Telemarketing Calls at Issue

21. Beginning August 11, 2021 and continuing to January 14, 2022, Plaintiff received at least twenty automatically-dialed and unsolicited telephone calls (hereinafter, “the calls”) to his cell phone, which is connected to phone numbers ending in -8938 and -0915.

22. During at least one call, a phone representative acknowledged that the call was made in violation of the TCPA and demanded that Plaintiff retroactively consent to the TCPA violation.

23. During the calls, the callers attempted to avoid legal reproach by “spoofing” the phone numbers from which they called so that Plaintiff’s cell phone, and any other telephones called, would show inaccurate caller ID information, and by instructing their employees not to immediately communicate the true name of the company calling even when Plaintiff, and any other telephone subscribers that were called, inquired as to the true name of the company.

24. Plaintiff’s cell phone number ending in -8938 has been listed on the Federal Trade Commission’s National Do Not Call Registry for over a decade. The FTC’s National Do Not Call Registry is available to telemarketers wishing to operate within the law.

25. The content of the calls was substantially similar. In particular, the sales pitches and intonations of the live phone representatives were similar. All of the calls were sales calls for life and health insurance. Additionally, at least one phone representative from each call that Plaintiff stayed on the line for, asked Plaintiff for his age, zip code, and full name.

26. Accordingly, a reasonable person would identify the calls as coming from the same entity.

27. During at least one call, including a call on September 3, 2021, Plaintiff spoke to a phone representative who said she was calling from “Insurance Supermarket.”

28. During that call, an ISI phone representative offered several choices of GTL's insurance plans. The phone representative also sent Plaintiff an email with GTL's branding and logo (as well as ISI's branding and logo) and four options of GTL's insurance plans with monthly premiums and coverage limits listed.

29. The calls to Plaintiff were made to sell, among other things, GTL's life and health insurance plans, for which ISI earned a commission.

Relevant Facts and Law

30. At no time, during the period in question, did Defendants have any prior business or contractual relationship with Plaintiff.

31. Accordingly, Defendants did not have an "established business relationship," as defined by 47 C.F.R. § 64.1200(f)(6) and N.M. Stat. Ann. § 57-12-22(D)(1)(a), with Plaintiff.

32. The calls were initiated for the purpose of encouraging the purchase of goods or services.

33. Defendants have not received from Plaintiff any prior express invitation or permission to call him.

34. Accordingly, the calls meet the definition of a "telephone solicitation" under 47 U.S.C. § 227(a)(4) and N.M. Stat. Ann. § 57-12-22(D)(4).

35. In transmitting the calls, Defendants utilized equipment that has the capacity to store or produce telephone numbers to be called, using a random or sequential number generator, and to dial such numbers.

36. Accordingly, the equipment utilized was an "automatic telephone dialing system" (hereinafter, "ATDS") as defined by 47 U.S.C. § 227(a)(1).

37. The telemarketing scheme used predictive dialer technology to transmit calls en-masse to telephone subscribers across the United States. A predictive dialer is a type of ATDS that, given a set number of phone representatives, “predicts” the maximum number of telephone subscribers that can be called at once in order for the call to be answered within a set period of time by a live phone representative.

38. The TCPA and its prohibitions apply, inclusively, to telemarketing calls transmitted from outside the United States. See 47 U.S.C § 227(b)(1).

39. Plaintiff’s cell phone is a personal phone.

40. Accordingly, Plaintiff is a “residential subscriber” as defined by 47 U.S.C. § 64.2305(d).

41. The calls were initiated on behalf of the Defendants, and/or by the Defendants themselves, for the purpose of encouraging the purchase or rental of, or investment in, the Defendants’ respective property, goods, or services.

42. Accordingly, the Defendants are “sellers” under 47 CFR § 64.1200(f)(10) and/or “telemarketers” under 47 CFR § 64.1200(f)(12).

43. Title 47 U.S.C. § 64.2305(d) applies inclusively “to any person or entity making telephone solicitations or telemarketing calls to wireless telephone numbers[.]” Mestas v. CHW Grp., 508 F. Supp. 3d 1011, 1028 (D.N.M. 2020).

Concrete Injury

44. The calls caused Plaintiff concrete injuries in fact.

45. The calls caused a partial depletion of the charge of Plaintiff’s cell phone battery, a partial depletion of the lifespan of the phone’s display, and unwarranted wear and tear for at least both of those components.

46. The calls aggravated Plaintiff, disrupted his days, and required him to divert attention away from his work and personal life to tend to and answer such unwarranted intrusions of his time.

47. Accordingly, the calls were repeated invasions of Plaintiff's privacy that required him to divert attention away from his work and personal life to tend to and answer such intrusions of his time.

Defendants Ratified the Calls

48. Defendants materially benefited from the telemarketing scheme at issue and stood to materially benefit from the calls to Plaintiff.

49. Defendants knew, or should have known, the calls were made in the manner as alleged herein. However, neither took effective action to correct such conduct or investigate whether such conduct was taking place, despite having good reason for investigating.

50. Defendants continued to accept the benefit of the telemarketing scheme which they knew, or should have known, was being conducted in the manner alleged herein.

51. Accordingly, Defendants are liable for the calls under the theory of ratification.

Mr. Dudarev is Liable for The Calls

52. Mr. Dudarev entered into agreements on behalf of ISI that led to the telephone calls at issue.

53. At all times relevant, ISI acted under the direction and control of Mr. Dudarev. Mr. Dudarev is also an employee of ISI.

54. Accordingly, Mr. Dudarev is vicariously liable for the calls under the theory of respondeat superior.

ISI Operates on behalf of GTL

55. ISI operated on behalf of GTL, and under its direct, implied, or apparent authority to sell GTL's insurance plans.

56. GTL knew that the volume of insurance enrollments produced by ISI could not be achieved merely by calling customers who had consented to be called by GTL or ISI.

57. GTL knew that the volume of insurance enrollments produced by ISI could not be achieved merely by calling customers without using an ATDS.

58. GTL knew or should have known of ISI's violative business practices. Nonetheless, GTL paid ISI sales commissions for the insurance enrollments produced by ISI.

59. Accordingly, GTL is vicariously liable for the calls because they were transmitted in a manner as alleged herein with the ratification of GTL.

60. GTL authorized ISI sales persons to represent themselves as agents of GTL to potential customers.

61. Accordingly, GTL is vicariously liable for the calls under the theory of apparent authority.

62. GTL had an agreement with ISI whereby GTL would pay ISI for the customers it enrolled in GTL's insurance plans. GTL paid ISI accordingly.

Alternative Liability

63. Plaintiff alternatively alleges that the Defendants are liable for the calls because they made the calls.

64. Plaintiff alternatively alleges that the Defendants are liable for the calls because any of the Defendants directed and controlled another Defendant, or other entity or individual, to place the calls in the manner alleged.

65. Accordingly, Defendants are alternatively liable under the theory of actual agency.

131. The callers structured their telemarketing operation to shirk regulatory requirements (including, 47 C.F.R. § 64.1200(b)(1)-(2)) that, if followed, would have allowed Plaintiff, and any other telephone subscribers called, to identify the caller and sponsor of the call, contact the sponsor of the calls, and prevent further calls. This is because the callers knew they were causing a disturbance to the personal property of telephone subscribers throughout the country, including Plaintiff.

132. Accordingly, Defendants are liable to Plaintiff under the theory of trespass to chattels.
